Prerequisites
Skills to be acquired in this module	Students internalize basic mathematical concepts and methods from analysis and matrix calculation and their applications in economics. Professional competence The students: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • are proficient in the mathematical fundamentals relevant to economics • master methods for solving equations and inequalities • master differential calculus for one and two variables and can integrate • are able to reliably determine local and global extreme points for functions of one and two variables. Methodological competence The students: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • analyse formal contexts • understand the formal mathematical language • structure problems from the economic sciences and justify their solutions. Social competence The students: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • construct solutions to given problems in groups • accept criticism and see it as an aid. Self-competence The students: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • reflect their actions in establishing solutions • deepen the presented mathematical concepts in exercises and add them to their actions.
Module contents	Basics in real Arithmetic, Rules for Matrix Arithmetic Linear equations, linear inequalities and systems of those, quadratic equations, financial mathematics (interest rates and present values, pension calculation) Calculus for functions of one variable: derivation rules for power functions, exp and ln, indefinite integral, applications of integral calculus (density function, ordinary differential equations), single-variable optimization (stationary points, extreme-value theorem, local and global extreme points),

Approximation methods (linear approximation, Taylor series with Lagrange remainder)
 Functions of two variables (partial derivatives, total differential), Tools for comparative statics : (elasticity of substitution, homogeneous and homothetic functions), multivariable optimization tasks (local and global extremes, extremes under constraints)

Prerequisites
Skills to be acquired in this module	The goal of the course is that students are able to... <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - know and understand basic concepts and processes in the context of business administration - name important research streams and theoretical frameworks in the field - apply models and instruments of business administration to develop solutions for practical challenges in companies - critically question the application of common instruments and models and evaluate their advantages and disadvantages in specific decision making situation - put the newly acquired knowledge into a broader context, so it can be deepened in the further course of study and when working in a company
Module contents	The course offers an introduction to the most important concepts, instruments, and frameworks of business administration. Toward this end, the course first introduces the core concepts and provides an overview of the history, goals, structure, and research traditions of business administration. Subsequently, students will gain insights into 11 important areas of business administration: (1) Entrepreneurship, (2) Strategic Management, (3) Logistics and Supply Chain Management, (4) Production Management, (5) Marketing and Sales, (6) Accounting and Controlling, (7) Finance and Investment, (8) Technology and Innovation Management, (9) Human Resource Management, (10) Information Management, and (10) Sustainability Management. Students deepen and apply the knowledge acquired in the lecture in tutorials. In addition, the course includes guest lectures by practitioners to clarify the practical relevance of the content.

Module contents	Course outline: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Introduction2. Valuation and Capital Budgeting3. Risk and Return4. Long-Term Financing This course is an introduction to corporate finance. It covers typical tools and techniques used in making investment and financing decisions, and it provides insights into their theoretical foundations. The concept of time value of money and net present value is discussed in detail, first under certainty, and then in the presence of uncertainty. We will examine the relationship between an investment's risk and its return, and discuss ways to derive risk-adjusted cost of equity capital. In addition, the course provides insights into firms' main sources of (long-term) financing. The topics covered in this course are relevant for financial decision-making in various areas of business management, including operations management, marketing, and in particular corporate strategy.

Skills to be acquired in this module	Upon completion of the module (two complementary lectures), students will be able to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • understand the complex issues, challenges and fields of action in organisational Human Resource (HR) Management; • analyse, interpret and manage HR issues within heterogeneous fields of stakeholders and environments; • effectively analyse and apply HR instruments according to the specific practical context; • develop skills to self-reflection by dealing with theoretical as well as practical issues in HR Management and are able to press their point within the scientific discussion; • are able to locate a specific research question within the scientific discussion in the field of Human Resource Management and to interlink, reflect and evaluate it accordingly. By attending the non-compulsory tutorials and participating in lecture discussions, students can develop their own position on the inter-linkages between theoretical approaches and practical courses of action. Students will thus be able to identify problems, analyse them critically, and develop solutions. As they have the opportunity to work in small groups within the tutorials and to participate during lecture discussions, students may also learn to handle different points of view and discuss constructively. Overall they will be prepared for the specific requirements faced in the field of HR Management.
Module contents	Students develop theoretical as well as practical insights into the backgrounds and specific characteristics of "Human Resource" Management, in particular the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - origins and theoretical basis - development and framework requirements - workforce planning - recruitment and selection - work organisation - working time organisation - leadership - performance reviews - training and development - compensation

Skills to be acquired in this module	At the end of the course, successful students: • understand the interdependence of market processes and economic policy in the subsystems of the economy, • avoid fallacies of composition in the nexus of microeconomics and macroeconomics, • use macroeconomics as a tool to analyse current economic and political issues, • translate economic problems into models that describe macroeconomic causalities and interdependencies by reasonable reductions of complexity, • interpret selected data in the light of macroeconomic theories.
Module contents	The course starts with an introduction to the principles of national accounting which serve as point of departure for the presentation of basic macroeconomic models in short-term, medium-term and long-term perspectives. Short-term: Consumption, saving, investment and finance in the closed-economy IS/LM framework. Medium-term: Labour supply & demand, production and inflation in the AS/AD framework and extensions to open-economy analysis. Long-term: capital accumulation, technical progress and economic growth in different approaches. The basic models are presented in words, algebra and diagrams with the aid of case studies and other exemplary material.

Prerequisites
Skills to be acquired in this module	Students obtain an overview of the most important operational functions of an industrial or service company. These are procurement, production and logistics. Students will get to know typical operational challenges and familiarize themselves with established approaches and methods for analyzing and improving procurement, production and logistics operations.
Module contents	The module comprises a lecture (course number 2.02.231) and an accompanying tutorial (course numbers 2.02.231a to 2.02.231j). The lecture is based on the text book "Grundzüge der Beschaffung, Produktion und Logistik" by Kummer, Grün und Jammernegg in the third edition of 2013 and the associated workbook, as well as partly on the text book "Operations Management: Konzepte, Methoden und Anwendungen" by Thonemann in the third edition of 2015. The purpose of the lecture is to explain the fundamental problems and their solutions theoretically. The tutorials focus on application and practice and offer time for questions. There are no formal or content-related participation or entrance requirements.

Module contents	This module introduces the theory of teaching and learning in vocational contexts and the structural design of teaching and learning processes with special regard to complex teaching and learning arrangements. The module covers two courses of lectures. The first course of lectures "Basic principles on teaching and learning in vocational contexts" gives an overview of the issue of teaching and learning in vocational contexts. Approaches to planning learning settings and dominant concepts in general and subject-specific pedagogy (didactics) such as 'competence-orientation' are discussed and analysed. The second course of lectures "Teaching and learning arrangements" gives an overview of teaching and learning arrangement used in vocational education and training. This includes simulation and business games, role playing, case studies, anchored instruction, learning in simulated work-situations, and project work. Preconditions for the use of these arrangements in schools and enterprises are discussed and practical experiences analysed using selected examples and research findings.

Module contents	Course outline: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Introduction2. Valuation and Capital Budgeting3. Risk and Return4. Long-Term Financing This course is an introduction to corporate finance. It covers typical tools and techniques used in making investment and financing decisions, and it provides insights into their theoretical foundations. The concept of time value of money and net present value is discussed in detail, first under certainty, and then in the presence of uncertainty. We will examine the relationship between an investment's risk and its return, and discuss ways to derive risk-adjusted cost of equity capital. In addition, the course provides insights into firms' main sources of (long-term) financing. The topics covered in this course are relevant for financial decision-making in various areas of business management, including operations management, marketing, and in particular corporate strategy.

Skills to be acquired in this module	Students obtain an overview of the most important operational functions of an industrial or service company. These are procurement, production and logistics. Students will get to know typical operational challenges and familiarize themselves with established approaches and methods for analyzing and improving procurement, production and logistics operations.
Module contents	The module comprises a lecture (course number 2.02.231) and an accompanying tutorial (course numbers 2.02.231a to 2.02.231j). The lecture is based on the text book "Grundzüge der Beschaffung, Produktion und Logistik" by Kummer, Grün und Jammernegg in the third edition of 2013 and the associated workbook, as well as partly on the text book "Operations Management: Konzepte, Methoden und Anwendungen" by Thonemann in the third edition of 2015. The purpose of the lecture is to explain the fundamental problems and their solutions theoretically. The tutorials focus on application and practice and offer time for questions. There are no formal or content-related participation or entrance requirements.
